Home Agent's Notes

A picnic is almost everyone's choice for summertime fun. We would like to suggest some items to help your picnics continue to be fun for all, including those who prepare the food.

Corn: Turn husks back; strip out corn-silk; then tie husks back in place. Dip ears in cold, salty water. Place ears in grate over hot coals. Turning ears occasionally, roast 10 to 15 minutes until the husks are dry and brown. Remove husks and serve with butter, salt and pepper.

Potatoes: Place 2 or 3 potatoes in a tall juice can. Place a larger can over the top for a cover. Place on coals and cover with more coals and hot ashes. With a poker or pliers, turn the cans during baking. When they are tender (30 to 40 minutes) remove from can; slit skin; and add butter, salt and pepper.

Main Dish: Use squares of locker foil or double thickness of household foil. On each, place a hamburger patty, several slices of onion, thin slices of potato, and carrot. Season with salt and pepper. Seal securely to make a tight package. Place on grill or directly on coals for about 15 minutes until done. Fold back the foil and use as a serving plate.

Fish: Clean and fillet the fish, or cut into thin steaks. Place each piece on a square of foil. Squeeze on lemon juice. Add a few onion slices, salt, pepper and butter. Fold the foil securely closed and place on the grill close above hot coals. Cook about 30 minutes, or until the fish flakes easily with a fork. Serve in the foil "dish."

Coffee: A gallon sirup pail is fine for making coffee. Fill it with water; cover; and when it begins to boil, add the coffee which you have tied in a cheesecloth bag. Boil for about a minute and settle with a dash of cold water. If you must use your coffee pot on the grill, rub the bottom with soap for easier washing afterwards.

If you do not care to boil coffee, use the instant kind. Each person can have the strength of coffee he prefers in this way.

Dessert: Of course, you may bring a meringue pie or chocolate cake with icing, but fruit will be as satisfactory and require no utensils for eating. Crisp red apples, bananas, bunches of grapes, or juicy peaches will pleasantly end your meal.

The campfire is the heart of your picnic, and the success of your meal will depend on whether or not it is a good one. Gather small, dry twigs, bits of birch bark, or dry chips to start your fire. If kindling is scarce or damp, a "fuzz-stick" may be made by cutting a small stick into shavings, leaving the shavings attached to the stick. Pile your small wood on this and light. When the fire is going, add larger split pieces, and finally your "hot" wood. Hickory, green or dry, chestnut, oak, pecan, iron-wood, apple, birch, maple, or yellow pine burn hot and long; settling into a bed of lasting coals that will be right for cooking.

NEIGHBORLY FARMERS

Louisville, Ky.. Although 60 Calloway county farmers were behind in their own plowing and planting this year, they banded together and planted five acres of tobacco for a neighbor, Thomas L. Armstrong, who was two months recovering from rheumatic fever. Fourteen other neighbors, twelve with tractors, plowed the sixteen acres of Wavil Joseph, stricken with measles along with three of his children.

Keep White Nylon White

Nylon is a sturdy fiber and vigor-our washing methods can be used if the weave and construction permit, say home economists at VPI.

White nylon uniforms, shirts, and slips can be kept white by the following methods:

Wash with white garments only. Nylon will pick up color from colored fabrics—even if they are considered colorfast.

Wash in the machine in hot water with white cottons and linens.

Use water softener and laundry-type soap, or all-purpose synthet.

If necessary, use a perborate-type bleach—not a chlorine bleach.

White orlon, acrilan, and some dacron can be washed like white nylon. Always handwash if fabric is sheer, loosely woven, or knit. Colored nylons and colored dacrons need to be washed in medium hot water to prevent fading. Colored nylon and colored dynel need to be washed in lukewarm water.

Never wash wool or dynel or it will shrivel. Press it with a cloth between the iron and the fabric. Glass-fiber fabrics must be washed by hand. Dip the article in suds two or three times. Rinse. Do not wring or you may break the fibers. Hang curtains back at the window or over a shower rod to dry.

Booby Traps For Weight Watchers

So you're watching your weight? Some common summertime foods are loaded with calories. Each of the following foods gives 100 calories: 4 marshmallows, 1-5 almond chocolate bar; 1-3 cup malted milk; 10 medium potato chips; or one cup of a carbonated beverage.

Military Laundry Unit Activated; Offers Opportunity to Reservists

Activation ceremonies of the newly organizaed 390th Quartermaster Company (Laundry), a unit of the 367th Quartermaster Battalion in Petersburg, were held last Wednesday at 7:30 P. M. at the Army Organized Reserve Corps, 12th and Clay Sts., Lynchburg, according to Capt. J. Allen Gills, the unit commander.

Invocation was given by Rev. A. L. Hill, and reading of the activation order was by Lt. Col. Martin Browning, senior unit advisor.

Highlight was the reading of a message from the commanding general of the Second Army, by Captain Gills, a welcoming message by Charles G. Baber, vice mayor of Lynchburg, and congratulatory remarks by Col. John W. Brady, of Richmond, representative of Virginia Military District and Senior Army Advisor.

Presentation of the guidon was by Col. L. K. Lloyd, of Petersburg, commanding officer of the 367th, and benediction was by the Rev. Hill.

The unit at present consists of 25 members and has been designated exclusively to the Lynchburg area by the Department of Army in Washington, Gills said.

"By joining the 390th Quartermaster Company, men between the ages of 17 through 32 who are physically qualified and have only one dependent, may start fulfilling their military obligations now," he stated.

Those from the Appomattox area interested in this opportunity, can contact Hubert Watkins, Appomattox, Va. He is one of the company officers. This activity provides opportunity for Negro personnel leaving active duty to fulfill their reserve obligations in compliance with the Reserve Act of 1955.

WOMEN ARE LESS PRONE TO ACCIDENTS

Chicago, Ill.- Don't laugh at your wife because you think she is a scaredy-cat. The National Safety Council says feminine prudence and skill are playing a part in holding the accidental death toll of women to about half the toll of men!

The Council's statistical yearbook, "Accident Facts," which is just off the press, also points out, however, that men are more exposed to danger because of their occupations and activities.

More women than men were killed in falls in 1954—the latest figure available. But the difference was not very great—551. And in all of the other seven principal causes of accidental deaths, men outnumbered women.

Motor vehicle accidents killed 26,725 men, 8,861 women; falls, 9,610 men, 10,161 women; fire burns 3,372 men, 2,711 women; drownings 5,450 men, 884 women; railroad accidents, 2,129 men, 487 women; firearms, 2,016 men, 265 women; poison gases, 881 men; 342 women; and poisons (except gas), 779 men, 560 women.

Harmony Wins At Democratic Convention

Virginians, as a whole, seemed today to be happy over the action of the National Democratic Convention in adopting a "moderate" Civil Rights plank in the party's platform, and the apparent forthcoming nomination of Adlai Stevenson as the party candidate for the Presidency.

Great credit was being given to Virginia's former Governor, John Stewart Battle, for his role as a member of the platform sub - committee handling the controversial rights issue, for the apparent success of his plea for moderation in order that Southern States might remain within the party. Although Gov. Battle objected to the final wording of the civil rights plank, he stated that it was the utmost the South could get, and constituted a moral victory.

In a session that ended only well after midnight last night, the Democrats adopted their platform, and were set to reconvene at 12 noon today to nominate Stevenson as the standard-bearer. It was very likely that Stevenson would get the required number of votes for the nomination on the first ballot. That he would get the nomination was virtually conceded on all sides.

The only thing left for the convention to decide would be choosing the nominee for Vice-President.

Appomattox Garment Company Now In Big Expansion Program

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Moses Ce lebrate 60th Anniversary

On August 13, 1896, sixty years ago Monday, simple but lasting marriage vows were made by Miss Clara Matilda Mann, 20 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robert Mann, and her chosen bridegroom, Thomas Walker Moses, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Moses, all of Appomattox.

The Rev. B. W. Johnson officiated at the ceremony on a Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, in the old Peers House, then a parsonage, and which is now a part of Old Appomattox National Historical Park.

Attending the wedding were J. D. Moses and Robert L. Moses, brothers of the bridegroom, and George A. Walton, a mutual friend.

From the scene of the wedding, the newlyweds traveled by horse and buggy to the home of Mr. Moses' parents, now owned by the Moses family and located on Route 460, where the wedding dinner was served.

While reminiscing the events of their wedding day, Mrs. Moses recalled the delicious leg of lamb served along with many vegetables at the dinner. Mr. Moses reminded her of the watermelon dessert, and that he had grown the watermelons.

Later in the afternoon they journeyed four miles to the home of the bride's parents. There they found a real welcome and a typical country supper with the main dish being choice slices of fried country ham with spoon bread. They returned the same night to the Moses farm, where they made their home until they moved to the Town of Appomattox and built their spacious home on the the old school site on Church Street, where they now reside.

At the time of their marriage, Mr. Moses estimates that his annual income from the farm and from his position as Deputy Treasurer, amounted to a total of $400.-00 and $500.00.He adds, "Clara and I made out all right, as there just wasn't too much to spend it for. The price of coffee then was

After an impressive vesper service, a business meeting was held during which time projects were selected for the coming year and officers were elected for the 1956-57 term. The officers were as follows:

Big Chief, Bill Carson; Lesser Chief, Gene Carson; Scribe, Joyce Gann; Reporter, Addison Winston.

Virginia farmers will earn about $960,000 for placing 9,100 acres of their 1956 allotment crops under the Acreage Reserve program of the Soil Bank, W. T. Powers, Administrative Officer, for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, stated that this acreage is broken down among the eligible allotment crops as follows:

Commodity	Acres	Payment
Wheat	1239	$ 5,365.91
Cotton	311	13,436.26
Corn	3997	138,479.60
Peanuts	8	81.65
Tobacco:
Burley	102	28,277.23
Fire-cured	635	98,812.43
Flue-cured	631	141,246.58
Maryland	13	1,836.96
Va. sun-cured	1785	231,711.82

Over one-third of the amount to be earned by farmers will be in the form of payments for taking sun-cured tobacco out of production. Sun-cured payments will amount to about $232,000.

There was some participation in the Acreage Reserve program throughout the state, but the program was most popular in the tobacco area of Central Virginia and the commercial corn area of Southeastern Virginia. A total of 3,103 Agreements were signed in Virginia. July 27 was the final date for signing agreements with ASC for placing of 1956 allotments in the Acreage Reserve.

Powers explained that the primary reason for the Acreage Reserve part of the Soil Bank program is to reduce production of crops now in surplus.

Payments to eligible farmers for participating in the Acreage Reserve will not be made until acreages have been checked by ASC to determine that individual farmers have complied with their agreements. The measurement of Soil Bank acreages will begin immediately and it is hoped payments to farmers can commence soon after performance has been determined.

The other major feature of the Soil Bank is known as the Conservation Reserve. In that program, general cropland will be taken out of production and devoted to Conservation uses. Details of this portion of the program will be announced later. Both the Acreage Reserve and the Conservation Reserve will also operate in 1957.
